

Fuel Management

The leading fuel management system that keeps control of costs and saves you time

Arval fuel cards offer much more than simply a convenient way to buy fuel. Whether you offer free fuel or want to manage your business fuel usage more effectively, Arval fuel cards save you cost and time. They give you control over the way your drivers buy and use fuel.

Arval's service covers all the key aspects of managing fuel costs:

- At-a-glance information of where, at what price and how often your drivers are buying fuel.
- Reporting calculates the actual fuel pence per mile, removing the need to set fixed pence per mile rates.
- Our consolidated HMRC approved invoices enable you to recover VAT from a single document.
- Our market leading AllStar fuel network includes 95% of all UK filling stations, including low cost supermarket forecourts.
- Unlike credit cards, our fuel cards are controlled for fuel and vehicle related purchases only, reducing opportunities for abuse.
- Simple administration and payment processes reduce administration time.

However many vehicles you run, fuel cards offer significant potential for freeing up time and saving your business money.

Passionate about fleet

ARVAL

A BNP PARIBAS company

The UK's largest fuel station network – AllStar

Arval fuel cards are accepted at more than 95% of all UK fuel stations, including motorway service stations and low-cost supermarket sites. Unlike single brand fuel cards or local garage accounts, Arval cards give the widest choice of conveniently-placed and competitively-priced fuel stations.

Stay in charge of drivers' forecourt purchases

Unlike pay-and-reclaim expenses or ordinary credit cards, Arval fuel cards give you control over what your drivers buy with their cards at forecourt shops. They allow you to specify which products individual drivers can obtain, through icons on the reverse of each card. You can limit the choice to fuel only; fuel and oil (the default); or a combination of fuels, consumables and car washes, so drivers cannot be tempted to add personal purchases to their expenses.

Management information at your finger tips

Your Arval fuel card invoice gives you information on every fuel and vehicle related purchase itemised by driver and/or registration number, giving you a complete breakdown of your fuel pence per litre and mile costs.

We also offer reports that highlight issues such as high-cost cars or drivers; unusually large, suspicious or frequent purchases; mpg performance, and situations where you want drivers to aim for particular price limits or fuel brands.

You can also access our Online facility, which gives you completely safe and password-protected 24-hour access to your account via any web browser. You can view up-to-date transaction data; order and cancel fuel cards; generate reports and much more.

The alternative to pay-and-reclaim

Using the mileage and transaction data, captured at the point of purchase, ensures your business never pays drivers more than the actual cost of the business fuel they use. An actual cost reimbursement scheme such as the Arval system, removes the need for a pay-and-reclaim system.

The report works out the actual pence per mile and then allows the driver to pay back his private miles. This is usually a substantial saving on a set pence per mile pay back system.

We have mileage capture systems that are easy to use and access, making it easy to charge for personal mileage.

HMRC VAT-approved invoice

Arval provides a single, consolidated fuel invoice that is accepted by HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) as a VAT document. It eliminates the need to collect and process drivers' till receipts to recover VAT on your business fuel. You can reclaim all your VAT from a single document and never lose an opportunity to recover VAT because of missing till receipts.
